

Alex Constantine

Alex is a Senior Principal Consultant for Mi-GSO | Pcubed and works alongside clients to find ways for them to reach for more. He helps organisations deliver complex programmes and build their portfolio, programme and project management capability. Over the last few years, Alex has focused his interest on automation, machine learning and artificial intelligence in project management. He has advised a range of organisations across most industry sectors, including transport, telecoms, oil & gas, retail and government. He is a member of the Association of Project Management and an APM ambassador.